

PRESS RELEASE

Find Your Feet in Historic Meridian Park

Have you lost your feet? You woke up, looked down, and they were nowhere to be found? Walk Urban Indy invites you to come find your feet as they launch a new walk-route in Historic Meridian Park.

On Saturday, September 20th Walk Urban Indy is inviting city-dwellers to join us for FREE docent-led walks in this historic neighborhood. The route, entitled “A Sunday Promenade” is a one-mile walk that highlights the early history of the neighborhood with significant architecture that connects our lives (and feet!) to the residents of 100 years ago.

We will be launching from the neighborhood’s new pocket park (open Spring 2015) located at 215 E 33rd Street with tours launching every half hour and lasting approximately 30 minutes.

Who: Walk Urban Indy
What: Launch Event for new 1 Mile Route
Where: Historic Meridian Park – launching from pocket part at 215 E 33rd Street
When: Saturday, September 20th 10:00a – 2:00p
Cost: FREE

An HMP 1a route badge will be given to the first 100 people to walk with us!

About Walk Urban Indy

Formed in May of 2013, WUI (pronounced “woo y”) encourages residents to walk in their neighborhoods as a health initiative and so much more. WUI has two main components to their program: Educational Route Guides – providing measured routes and themed information about the neighborhood you’re walking through, and Walking Group Coordination - encouraging the formation and sustainability of walking groups through a series of events, workshops, and on-line information.

Walk Urban Indy is a registered not for profit in the State of Indiana with the Indianapolis Neighborhood Resource Center (INRC) as fiscal agent until 501(c)(3) status is obtained.
